

Allowing private interests (i.e. corporations like Sinclair) to misuse airwaves provided free of charge is wrong. These corporations, in exchange for being given these airwaves, are required by law to serve the public interest. When private groups use these free airwaves to force their beliefs on the public, they are abusing the privilege of free airwaves.